Indoor Composting Basics!

Questions to explore with the younger audience members in your family during and after the video!

During the Video

1. Which animal is a good decomposer for an indoor compost bin? Circle the answer.
   - Slug
   - Fruit Fly
   - Worm

2. Why do we want to chop up the vegetables into smaller, or finer, pieces?
   __________________________________________________________________________
   __________________________________________________________________________
   __________________________________________________________________________

After the Video – Do you Remember?

1. What other types of food leftovers do you think could go into the compost bin? Why or why not?
   __________________________________________________________________________
   __________________________________________________________________________
   __________________________________________________________________________

2. Which types of food leftovers do you think should not go into the compost bin? Why or why not?
   __________________________________________________________________________
   __________________________________________________________________________
   __________________________________________________________________________

Activities to do with the younger audience members!

1. Hold a worm or place it on a moist paper towel....and...observe!

2. Do WORM yoga...move like a worm, wiggling around on the floor/ground.

3. Record the amount of food scraps you are diverting each day or week by weighing it before placing it in the worm bin. Over a month, count it all up!