

Summer Academic Leadership Training (SALT)

The SALT program is an opportunity for newly admitted Goshen College students who identify as coming from ethnically and culturally diverse backgrounds and/or are first generation students to get a head start on their total college experience!

As someone who identifies with this background, you are eligible for the opportunity to begin your college career at Goshen College in the 2015 SALT program

SALT is an academic program that focuses on themes of identity, leadership, spirituality and success strategies.

Summer: The 2015 SALT program will take place during the summer: August 15–21 2015.

Academic: Introduction to the academic rigor of college level work.

Leadership: Workshops and reflections designed to facilitate awareness and development of personal leadership skills and abilities.

Training: This program is an opportunity to “train” yourself with healthy habits and the good discipline required for success during your time at Goshen College.

If you choose to participate in SALT and will be living on campus during the school year, you will be required to live on campus for the duration of the program. If you will not be living on campus during the school year, you will not stay on campus overnight during the SALT program. A qualified team of Resident Assistants (RA's) will live alongside participants to serve as mentors on the floor in the Residence Hall.
